

About Us

If you want your tableware to be as distinctive as your cooking, you should be talking to Chefsfirst. I'm Bob Grenham, the founder of Chefsfirst, and I can supply you with the latest catering equipment as soon as it's available &ndash; and long before it appears in the catalogues of the slow-moving distributors.

I can do this because I personally visit the big British and European manufacturers once a month. Better still, I can beat the big-name distributors on price because I've cut out the expensive chain of distributorships. I buy direct on your behalf &ndash; and in quantities to satisfy a start-up bistro, a city-centre corporate restaurant or a chain of country-house hotels.

Insider knowledge and one-to-one service keeps you on top of industry trends

Nothing beats seeing and handling catering equipment first-hand. I'd very much like to show you how good your food could look when served on fresh and original tableware, including fine English bone china and 18/10 stainless steel cutlery. Many of the styles are exclusive to Chefsfirst.

Most of all, I'd like to offer you the one-to-one, personal advice of a catering equipment expert. Call me now on 01858 881115 to talk about tableware that's as stylish as your cooking or send me an email
